God Bless Us, Every One
Encountering Christ in Charles Dickens' A Christmas Carol

By Michael Hoy

Reflect on actual passages from A Christmas Carol by Charles Dickens in a way that ties the transformation of Ebenezer Scrooge to our journey of faith. In the same way that Scrooge moves from crusty curmudgeon to kindhearted gentleman, revealed most clearly in his change of heart toward Tiny Tim, so we move from enemies of God to friends through the birth of the little Lord Jesus, who came to save us from our past and present that we might be blessed in all our future days.

By David Mead

When Christmas Day arrives, the celebration is just beginning! Start a new window calendar tradition, one that keeps the Christmas joy going and glowing all the way to Epiphany. Lift up a numbered flap each day from December 25 to January 5, the 12 days of Christmas, and watch what appears as shepherds, angels and wise men come with good gifts to share. As the Christmas season ends, the star appears, completing the scene that can be displayed throughout the season of Epiphany.

My Very Own Christmas Carol Storybook

Discovering the Christchild of Christmas Past, Present and Yet to Come

Introduce children to the characters in Charles Dickens' beloved story, A Christmas Carol, in a way that places new focus on the true past, present and future of Christmas joy—our Lord Jesus. Just as Ebenezer Scrooge was changed by looking back, looking around him and looking to the future, we can all celebrate the Advent truth that Jesus was welcomed long ago in a Bethlehem stall, is welcome each day in our hearts and has promised to one day welcome us to our heavenly home. Included is an accompanying activity sheet used to create a Christmas Carol playset. Each day of December, the Christmas characters share how God blesses us and prompt us to be a blessing to others. Ages 5-12.

Devotions for Advent

By Tim Wesemann

These daily devotions focus on the ways in which the Light of Christ dawns upon us this Advent season and how that holy Light helps us to shine as children of the Light as we await our Savior's birth. Each week, these reflections highlight a different aspect of the rising, reflected, healing and eternal qualities of Christ's light; and, how these facets enlighten our lives and help us to glow with his grace all season long.
